

The case for property rights - spot the fallacy

Tuesday, 13 January 2009 10:25

---

Fallacies can still slip through clever philosophy. The gaping hole in this libertarian's argument is that it fails to distinguish between that which is man made and that which is a gift of nature (or God).